

Lack of Contacts

Contact staff at other local libraries and see if they might be interested.

Submit article in CILIP Update?

Advertise via ~~LES~~ JISC LIS mailing list.

- don't do nothing!
- start with traditional routes of contact
- check social network sites
- contact such like-minded people

Go to other 'radical' events - feminist / left wing / queer etc.

Build RLC advocacy into your current networking, trade Union, etc activity.

Venue - How do we ensure the venue is "radical" or suitable?

Ask local trade unions for advice

Seek out your friendly local anarchists (etc.) and ask advice.

- avoid own work places, even if free
- local authorities, public libraries, cafes
- local groups may have lists of places to use

Open up to other groups - artist studios
Cafe Craft groups
DIY spaces

Time Consuming → How do we minimise time consuming aspects?

Agree a reasonable (once consensus-~~based~~ based decision making approach.

- short, focused week
day sessions.
- annual large event

Rotate responsibilities

Clear discussion topics to get through within meeting time

Doodle Polls

Confidence in creating a space.

Confidence

- a buddy system so that a ~~the~~ named center (from an established group?)

can offer support

- A blogpost/zine/article about how a local group set up + organize gatherings etc.

Talk to other groups who've created space for advice - you're not alone!

Try out physical locations don't worry about finding the perfect
one straight away